RUMOR OF A COMPROMISE ON WATSON SETS CITY IN UPROAR

Story That Rushville Man is Considered as "Dark Horse" Possibility Spreads Like Wild Fire.

ONE TOPIC OF CONVERSATION

Not Much Foundation For Belief, However, Because Nominations Are Not Due Until Tomorrow.

NEWS FILTERS OVER WIRES

Rushville Men Indulge in Speculation of Subsequent Events, Should Watson be Nominated.

The news that James E. Watson was being mentioned prominently as a compromise candidate for the Republican nomination for President on the Republican ticket in the national convention in Chicago today spread like wildfire here.

It set the town on fire. Business was at a standstill this afternoon. Men collected in groups on the street and talked of the possibilities of "Our Jim" being nominated for President. They discussed it at all angles. It was a safe wager that any two men found on the streets were holding a heated conversation about the good fortune that might descend on their fellow townsman.

It would be next to impossible to chronicle all of the speculation that was indulged in this afternoon. Men and women talked of it in the stores; boys on the streets were interested; strong Democratic partisans discussed the new feature that had entered into the Republican contest and all were agreed. Democrats, boys, men and women and all, that it would be difficult to find a more competent man than James E. Watson.

"Well here's one vote for President Jim could be counted on," opined one prominent Democrat.

"And here's another," exclaimed another Democrat by his side.

"I'll agree to burn my hat if Jim Watson's nominated," and George Young said he would be willing to be put on record that way.

"What would your twin brother Sam do?" was asked George.

Sam was standing near and he was not slow about saying that he would not stop at burning up his hat.

It was generally rumored that Fred Capp, when he was apprised of the news that filtered through the wires into the local Western Union telegraph office, said that he would remove his clothes and burn them as soon as he was certain Watson had been nominated. Friends of Fred wanted him placed on record as making such an assertion but he could not be located this afternoon.

In the heat of excitement many wild statements were made. One man vouchsafed the observation that Rushville would be converted into a village of summer homes, and that everybody would move to Washington.

Still another indulged in a dream of the subsequent events, should Watson be nominated. He thought that the name of Rushville would have to be enlarged on the map. He also thought Rushville would have a celebration which would be remembered for years to come.

Business men and others on the streets this afternoon were making highly complimentary remarks concerning Watson: that he was a capable and brainy man else he would not have been chosen as floor leader by the Taft men, and that his ability and resourcefulness had never been fully recognized by the "folks back home."

A dampner was put on the enthusiasm of one crowd of men. It was the Western Union messenger boy. He opined that there wasn't much to this Watson talk. He said "I don't think much of this Watson stuff. He might be nominated for vice-president, but I believe the other is going one too strong."

The story was started when the Western Union operator here heard the news over the wire that the name of Watson had been boosted as a compromise candidate by the Michigan delegation and had been taken up by other State delegations.

Nothing is likely to come of the compromise talk until the strength of the two candidates is tested on some vote. It is the expression of most all correspondents the convention will go into a deadlock whenever the balloting for the nomination begins. No nominations were to be made until tomorrow, according to the schedule.

Republicans here this afternoon argued that things much less surprising than the nomination of Watson would be had happened in previous Republican national conventions. They recalled the nomination of Garfield as a compromise candidate. He was little known and was little more than a nonentity when nominated.

CHILDREN FROLIC AT FAIR GROUNDS

Over 200 Vote Salvation Army Outing Today the Happiest Hours of Their Life.

HAULED OUT IN MOTOR TRUCKS

More than two hundred little urchins froliced on the sward at the fair grounds today, and this afternoon late they voted it the happiest eight hours of their young lives. The occasion was the first outing given the poor children by the local corps of the Salvation Army. No regular program was carried out to any great extent, the little folks being allowed to wander at will where they pleased over the several acres that comprise the fair grounds, and play what they chose.

At noon they sat down to a sumptuous repast. The tables were loaded with all the good things that would tempt a boy or girl's eye and make their mouth water. They did full justice to the meal. This afternoon, Adjutant Westbrook, a venerable old Salvation Army worker who is a pioneer in this country, told the children some of her experiences.

The children were hauled to and from the grounds in the motor trucks from George C. Wyatt & Company's and Fred A. Caldwell's stores, and in J. K. Gowdy's automobile. The trucks made two trips.

2 HOUR DEBATE CAUSES DELAY

Watson, Taft Floor Leader, and Roosevelt Cheiftain Agree to Oratorical Grind at Convention.

SAME DISCUSSION TODAY

Problem is Whether it Will be Fought to a Deadlock or a Roosevelt Bolt.

BULLETIN.

Watson was speaking in favor of the temporary roll call at 3:05 when Hadley, Roosevelt leader, arose to correct him. A stampede and wild demonstration followed. The New Jersey delegation started to parade around the hall, and about two-thirds of the delegates joined in. Previous to that the lie was passed by Mayor Shank of Indianapolis to George L. Records, a Roosevelt man, during the argument.

(Special to the Daily Republican.) Chicago, June 19.—The work of the Republican national convention was delayed today by a two hour debate on the same question that was uppermost yesterday: whether the motion of Gov. Hadley, Roosevelt floor leader, that the ninety-two contested Taft delegates placed on the temporary roll by the national committee, should be replaced by Roosevelt's list of delegates, should be submitted to a vote of the convention.

With the opening of the convention shortly after eleven o'clock came the motion which had been anticipated. Gov. Hadley and James E. Watson of Indiana, Taft floor leader, agreed that two hours should be allowed for debating the question and the oratorical grind began. Watson led the Taft debaters. A session will be held tonight.

Another problem confronted the convention when it opened today. That was whether it was to be a fight to a deadlock between Roosevelt and Taft or whether it was to be a bolt in favor of the third term candidate. Some advisers of Roosevelt counseled against a bolt, while radical bosses who would like Roosevelt's personality to help them along in their own districts advise a bolt.

The various elements which make up the convention argued today that the election yesterday of Elihu Root of New York, a Taft man, as temporary chairman by a 56 majority, was a victory for them. Taft, Roosevelt and "dark horse" advocates claimed an advantage in the election of Root.

The second day of the convention opened with ten hours of stubborn fighting ahead and the outcome of the contest for the presidential nomination no nearer the eye than it was yesterday. Four major possibilities loomed large in the foreground. These were the renomination of President Taft, the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt, the nomination of a third candidate, and the possibility of a second or double convention.

But one thing seemed sure and certain at the time of the reassembling of the delegates at 11 o'clock approached. And that was that Governor Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri would take up the fight for the Roosevelt forces by renewing his motion to strike from the temporary roll of the convention, as prepared by the national committee, the names of ninety-two Taft delegates seated by the national committee in contested election cases and substitute those of the Roosevelt delegates.

Then, it seems equally certain, the Taft leaders would move to refer Governor Hadley's "expurgated" list to the credentials committee and that

MULLIN NAMED SCHOOL TRUSTEE

Elected by Council Last Night For Three Years to Succeed Ernest Thomas.

CUT-OUT ORDINANCE PASSED

If Found Guilty Can be Fined Not to Exceed $25—Parsons Won Over Norris.

The city council opened the cut-out on the steam roller last night and proceeded to pass the ordinance making it unlawful for automobiles and motorcycles to run in the city limits with the muffler open. Councilman Norris was the only one voting against the ordinance. Norris, by the way, was on the wrong side of every measure proposed at last night's meeting and the argument between Dr. Parsons and he was quite warm at times.

The ordinance against the open cut-outs on motorcycles and automobiles, as passed by the council calls for a fine, if convicted, not to exceed $25. The ordinance was placed on second reading the rules suspended and read the third time and placed in its final passage. The law will become effective on and after its publication as provided by law.

Councilman Norris reported that he had investigated the petitions for street improvements in George and East Ninth streets and recommended that the petitions be granted. The street commissioner was instructed to superintend the work. The Arthur and Sexton street bridges over Hodges branch were ordered repaired.

Dr. Parsons, as chairman of the special water committee, reported that a well had been completed north of the C. H. & D. railway in the Keaton field. The well is 57 feet deep and on a test showed 55 gallons per minute. The water outlook at present is the best in years according to the councilman. Dr. Parsons stated that when the four new wells are attached to the city supply, they alone would give as much water as the city had all last summer.

The city engineer's estimate of the cost of sidewalks in Market and Spencer streets was received and placed on file. The contract for the sidewalks in these streets was awarded to Arvil Herkless. His was the only bid received and called for cement pavement at 13 3/10 cents per square foot and curb at the alleys at 30 cents a lineal foot.

A representative of the Pittsburg Meter Co. talked to the council about the merits of his water meters. About every meter company in the country has had a man here in an effort to sell the city meters.

A precedent of about thirty years was broken when the Republican members of the council named a school trustee to succeed Ernest Thomas. Bert Mullin was elected to fill the vacancy. His name was presented by Councilman Newhouse and the election was made by acclamation. It has always been the custom to select a member of the school board from the ward which is not represented. According to this the member should have been selected from the third ward. Council Norris told Mr. Newhouse that he was breaking the precedent but Mr. Mullin's name was the only one presented. Mr. Mullin will serve as a member of the school board for three years.

The water rebate question again came up for hearing. The council a long time ago advertised that if claims for sprinkling were filed before a certain date the money would be refunded. One hundred and forty

SPECIAL MEET TONIGHT

Merchants Association Will Discuss "Big Wednesday" Plans.

The special meeting of the Rushville Retail Merchants Association, arranged for last Wednesday night, will be held this evening in the court house assembly room. The session is to be held to discuss plans for the first "Big Wednesday" of the season which will be held July 10. The merchants at the last week's meeting were unanimously in favor of the bargain day this year, and tentative plans talked of then, will likely be carried out tonight.

L. E. & W. IS THIRD ROAD TO WITHDRAW

Agreement Not to Operate Sunday Excursions Broken Again—Not Likely to be Recognized.

BY ANY RAILWAY COMPANY

The Lake Erie & Western railroad is the third railroad belonging to the Central Passenger Association to violate the agreement reached recently that no Sunday excursions should be run this season. The other two railroads which have not abided by the ruling are the Monon and the Nickel Plate. The first excursion is advertised for next Sunday.

It is not known whether any of the other roads will fall in line on the proposition. It is generally believed, however, that excursions will be operated by all of the roads within the near future. The question was brought up at the meeting of the C. P. A. in Chicago last week, following the withdrawal from the agreement by the Nickel Plate and the Monon, but no action was taken, it is said. The withdrawal of the L. E. & W. came as a big surprise in railroad circles.

HARD LUCK HITS RUSHVILLE TEAM

"Hop" Spacey Out of Game For Several Weeks With an Injured Thumb.

BROWNS PLAY HERE SUNDAY

"Hop" Spacey, catcher on the Rushville ball team, will be out of the game for several weeks on account of injury to his left thumb. Spacey is a carpenter by trade and the day before yesterday while at work on a barn accidentally cut the thumb to the bone with a saw. Spacey said the accident occurred shortly before the time to quit work and in an effort to hurry the job through he got too fast with the saw. The flesh was badly lacerated and the bone was cut. He has been playing a nice game behind the bat and is considered a comer. His absence will be missed by the team.

Manager Maibaugh will try to get a good catcher for Avery for the game with the Indianapolis Browns Sunday. The Browns, under the leadership of "Peek-a-boo" Veach is considered one of the best semi-pro teams out of Indianapolis and a good game can be expected.

ROOSEVELT IS READY TO BOLT

He Will Become Independent Candidate if Credentials Committee Upholds National Committee.

IN SEATING 48 DELEGATES

Rival Managers Give Out Statements Showing Their Candidates Are Bound to Win Nomination.

(Special to the Daily Republican.) Chicago, June 19.—That Theodore Roosevelt would become an independent candidate for president against President Taft if the credentials committee upheld the decision of the national committee in seating the Taft delegates from the thirteenth Indiana district, Washington, Texas, and California, was the belief here this morning. The right of the delegates to sit in the convention was disputed by Roosevelt.

The total of these delegates is 48. This number is sufficient to secure a renomination for the President and is adequate for the Colonel in the event he is able to borrow some delegates from Senator Cummins and Senator LaFollette, who control 46 between them.

The Roosevelt program has been decided upon after a series of conferences attended by the leaders of the anti-Taft faction, and it is designed to execute it after the credentials committee submits its report to the convention.

Taft men are in a majority on the committee and the presumption naturally has been that, inasmuch as the President's managers have faith in the national committee, a majority of the credentials committee would reject the claims of the Roosevelt contestants.

This would give the President a small majority in the convention, thus insuring his renomination, in all probability.

Assuming that Mr. Taft receives a majority of votes, the former President would be prepared to repudiate the action of the convention. He then would proceed forthwith to organize a convention of his own, consisting of such Roosevelt delegates as may be willing to bolt the convention, even though they do not constitute a majority of the roll as prepared by the national committee and ratified by the credentials committee.

The Colonel insists that Mr. Taft must be renominated by a majority of the delegates who are absolutely uncontested as to their right to sit in the convention, and even though he, himself may be short of a majority of uncontested delegates he will not hesitate to accept a nomination at the hands of his followers.

This briefly, is the plan of the Colonel, and unless something now unforeseen arises to alter his purpose he will go through with it. Therefore it is possible that by this evening he will be the first candidate of the two major political parties in the field, for it is intended that the Roosevelt convention should nominate its candidates for President and Vice-president and adopt a platform at a single session.

Since the regular program of the convention is to extend over a period of four days with Thursday as the day for nominating the President, Mr. Taft would be named for a second term subsequent to the Colonel's nomination by his own delegates.

Several budding statesmen aspire to go on the ticket with Roosevelt, but the probabilities have narrowed down tentatively to Governor Johnson of California and Governor Hadley of Missouri.

The Taft and Roosevelt bureaus gave out statements this morning. Continued on page eight.

A Sane Fourth.

The Daughters of the American Revolution have issued a circular letter making a timely appeal for a sane Fourth of July. A noticeable advancement has been made along this line and fewer fatalities and accidents were recorded in 1911 than for several years. Yet, the number of those killed and maimed was appalling. The old idea that the boy must have a quantity of dangerous fireworks is deep rooted and it will require much time to show that it is far better to celebrate the "glorious Fourth" in a safer manner and without the unnecessary peril to life and limb.

In the circular issued it is stated: "With the near approach of the Fourth of July celebration we are again forcibly reminded of the annual recurrence of one of the greatest dangers and most destructive follies in American life. The Fourth of July is not so much a day of patriotic celebration as an occasion for maiming and destroying children. In many instances the day gives more cause to heartaches than for instruction in patriotism."

The Fourth of July is the greatest holiday in the annals of the American people and is a time when the heart of every true American should thrill with loyal patriotism. Why could not the Stars and Stripes be more generally used in place of the deadly fire cracker and pistol? It is true the average American boy enjoys the roar of the cannon cracker and the flash of powder, yet this has been brought around largely through the training, and time is required to undo that which has been done.

The letter continues: "Higher value should be placed upon human life. Such disasters do not tend to stimulate patriotism but on the other hand tend to cloud our national holiday with memories of sadness instead of sentiment of patriotic devotion. The annual Fourth of July disaster should not be less effective to us but cause us to do all in our power to protect the thoughtless from threatening dangers."

The Country is Safe.

Amid the turmoil of such a reaction as that at Chicago, with good men and bad men indiscriminately calling each other liars and thieves, a foreigner would gain the impression that our republic was about where Rome was at the time the Goths came down like a northerly hurricane, and swept the joy-livers into the Mediterranean.

If he will return to this country about next May, however, he will find that the capitol at Washington, the White House, and all of the public buildings are still there. Congress may be in session between ball games and the Congressional Record will not carry any blood stains on its prosy pages.

The actual fact is that about one man in a hundred wants to change our form of government, while the other 99 simply can't agree as to what particular man or party will best carry along our government in the spirit of liberty and justice. When any man gets into office and makes blunders that stop the wheels of industry and deny any large section of the people the fruits of their honest toil, he could not get 25 per cent of the votes at the next election.

A great many people act at conventions an elections much like the parent who punishes the small boy when angry. The next day he begins to wonder at his spasm of fury. He recognizes that he would do better to keep his hand on the boy's conduct every day, instead of whaling him within an inch of his life once a year.

Sam Sanderson Says:

That, despite the fact that the ordinance passed by the city council last night provides autoists shall not run their machines with the mufflers wide open, some fellows will still continue to be allowed to laugh and talk unmuffled.

Today at the opening of the second session of the Republican national convention at Chicago, both sides were claiming victory. Theodore Roosevelt's claims have already shown to be empty, because late yesterday Senator Elihu Root of New York, the Taft candidate, was elected temporary chairman by a majority of fifty-eight over Gov. McGovern, of Wisconsin, the candidate on which the Roosevelt forces decided at the last moment in an effort to poll some of the votes in the Wisconsin delegation pledged to LaFollette.

But the smallness of the majority in favor of Root caused some apprehension among the Taft adherents. It was small enough for a few newspapers who are opposed to Taft, to vouchsafe an opinion that Taft would never be nominated. There were none at the convention opening today, who would predict that Roosevelt would be the choice of the convention, except his political managers and a few faithful bosses.

The Lafayette Courier in a fulmination against "bosses," refers to the "young and engaging figure of Flinn of Pittsburg." Flinn, as a matter of fact is the worst type of the municipal boss politician. He has amassed millions out of politics—mostly out of municipal contracts acquired through his control of the political machinery in one of the most notoriously corrupt cities of America. All this may be very "engaging" to the Courier, but it is hardly consistent with its professed devotion to clean politics, assuming that it knows the fact about Flinn, which are notorious. However, there are a good many people in this country to whom a "boss" is "engaging" only when he happens to be one's own brand of boss.

Democrat newspapers are indulging in much hilarity over the strenuous pre-convention fight of the Republicans at Chicago. They were almost as hilarious in the early June of 1880 when the contest within the Republican party was quite as tense as it is now, but it will be remembered that their merriment was of short duration. It seems that nearly all the fun the Democratic party gets out of politics is in the early summer. Along about October and the first of November things get mighty serious for them. The campaign of 1880 gave us a Republican president and it is not at all improbable that the Republican party will be able to handle the present situation in a way that will bring victory in November.

While it is very wicked to offer money in bribery, it is always considered legitimate for the candidates to make the usual gifts as testimonials of their personal affection for their supporters.

The convention people should avoid controversial issues. One politician having remarked that Noah was dead, was properly given physical chastisement for introducing disputations questions.

Statistics show 15,000 less automobiles in New York State than last year, but about that number have been smashed up on the Sunday runs.

The Chicago convention can't agree on choice of a president, but they might at least settle who shall be postmaster at Billville.

The Chicago convention has been policed by 1100 men, but according to all accounts the lock-up facilities are woefully inadequate.

While Nick Longworth is sawing away at his fiddle in a violin contest, his father-in-law is at the convention hitting the lyres.

If the report be true that some one is complaining about Sunday baseball we can't see who it could be unless it is Alea Williams, "mayor" of Jersey City. The cheers might disturb his Sunday afternoon nap.

Because fellows come back from the Chicago convention with swollen feet, it's no sign they have the goat. They just had to keep movin', that's all.

HE IS HEADLINER AT CONVENTION

James E. Watson Exhibits Rare Skill as Taft Parliamentary Floor Leader.

CIRCUMSTANCES ARE TRYING

James E. Watson of Indiana was a headliner in the national convention Tuesday, says an Indianapolis Star dispatch. He performed the difficult role of parliamentary floor leader of the Taft forces. Watson assumed the task under trying circumstances, for Victor Rosewater, chairman of the national committee, who called the convention to order, was regarded as a little weak in his support of Taft, as well as a trifle lame in his knowledge of parliamentary tactics, and the Taft leaders were fearful that he would not "play ball" satisfactorily.

They exacted from him, however, a promise that he would recognize Watson in preference to everybody else who might demand recognition and he filled this promise in a way that left no cause for complaint.

Watson was clad in a light cutaway suit, with Saratoga trimmings, and brought his best parliamentary and oratorical skill into play in the discharge of the ticklish duties of his position. He stood the heckling good naturedly.

claims were filed. Councilman Norris was in favor of allowing the claims and the argument was between Parsons and Norris. Dr. Parsons was in favor of the water committee meeting with the city treasurer and adjusting the claims. The claims ranged in amounts from a few dollars up to eleven dollars. Parsons stated there could be no claims of $11 for sprinkling and it was up to the committee to investigate. On the vote Parsons won, Norris voting against the investigation.

Councilman Norris was due for one more round with Dr. Parsons. Norris stated that the Red Men would need extra police for the Fourth of July and made a motion that the mayor appoint four men Dr. Parsons amended the motion by asking that the question be referred to the police committee. The amendment was carried with Norris opposing. The motion was killed. Dr. Parsons is chairman of the police committee and if any extra police are appointed he will have a say so in naming the men.

A special session will be held Monday night to hear the final reports on the Arthur street improvement.

LET US SHOW YOU NO-RIM-CUT TIRES

You are undoubtedly convinced that you should use No-Rim-Cut tires. Every motorist has read about No-Rim-Cut tires again and again in the magazines and newspapers. You have read how the 10 per cent oversize and No-Rim-Cut features cut tire bills in two. You have wanted these tires. They are here now. Let us show you.

NO-RIM-CUT FEATURE

No-Rim-Cut tires have six tapes of 126 braided wires in the base, making the base absolutely unstretchable. Nothing can force the tire out of the rim channel. A hooked base is not necessary to hold the No-Rim-Cut tire on. The hooked side of the rings are turned away from the tire. Then the tire, when deflated, rests on the rounded side of the rings. Rim-Cutting is impossible.

10 PER CENT OVERSIZE

GOOD YEAR

When a car is overloaded the tires get that extra strain. That hastens breakdowns—means blowouts. No-Rim-Cut tires are made 10 per cent oversize to provide for overload. The construction allows that.

That oversize means 10 per cent more air—10 per cent more carrying capacity. That oversize saves all that overloading costs.

Consider these features and what they save the motorists.

No-Rim-Cut tires cost no more than standard clincher tires. Why shouldn't you adopt No-Rim-Cut tires? Come and see them and you will.

3 CANDIDATES HAVE APPEARED

Phi Delta Kappas Wonder About Own Convention, While Great Parties Battle.

MEET IN MARION NEXT WEEK

Local Members Will Attend But Will Likely Have No Candidates.

With the leading political parties of the United States fighting over Presidential possibilities the members of the Phi Delta Kappa fraternity which holds its national convention in Marion, June 26, 27 and 28, are wondering who will head their organization. Three strong candidates have already appeared as aspirants for the grand presidency of the fraternity.

Wilbur Feighner, of Marion, was the first to announce his candidacy and he has for months been working up a following in the fraternity at large. The Gamma chapter candidate has held every office in his chapter at different periods and is at present national sergeant at arms of the fraternity. There is probably no man better acquainted with the general fraternity than Mr. Feighner. He is a prominent young business man of Marion.

Wade Monahan of Ft. Wayne is a strong candidate for the chief executive office of the fraternity. He was an "also ran" for the national president's office last year and was defeated by Richard Howard, of Peru, the present grand president. Monahan is well known in fraternity circles and should prove to be a strong man.

A new man in the fraternity and in political activity of Phi Delta Kappa is Harry Nier, of Cincinnati, O., a candidate for grand president. Nier has sent out attractive and unique little bulletins to every man in the frat announcing his ambition to be the head of the Greeks. It is rumored that he is coming to Marion prepared to spend plenty of money for social purposes if this method will do him any good at all. The Cincinnati chapter is the oldest one in Ohio and will have solid support of the other Buckeye chapters.

Secretary Gauchet of Indianapolis, present scribe of the fraternity is again a candidate for re-election and he will be backed by the Rho chapter of the Hoosier capital city to secure the office. Logansport has a man that it is supporting for national inner guard and several other cities have announced that they will spring some candidates as soon as their crowds arrive on the ground.

It is rumored that Bluffton has a dark horse for national president in the person of a young physician of the Wells county town.

Several cities have announced themselves as anxious to land the 1913 convention of the fraternity. Indianapolis, Goshen, Cincinnati, Huntington and Ft. Wayne are most prominent in the list. A majority of the members of the Rushville chapter will attend the convention, but will likely not have any candidates.

CARP WEIGHS 16 POUNDS.

The largest fish taken from Flatrock this season was captured by William Redenbaugh, north of St. Paul. The fish was a huge carp and measured thirty-three inches long and tipped the scale at sixteen and a half pounds. The fish was caught on a doughball. Redenbaugh said that the carp looked like a young shark in the clear water. He said that after he had hooked the fish it put up one of the fiercest fights for liberty that he had ever seen exhibited by a member of the funny tribe. It required more than an hour to land him. After the carp had been landed its bark which is similar to that of a dog, could be heard for more than half a mile.

MR. ROOT SOUNDS PARTY KEYNOTE

Appeals to People for Continuance of Power.

ASKS A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

In His Address Before the Republican National Convention, Senator Root, as Temporary Chairman, Urges That His Party is a Coherent and Living Force, Effective, Responsible and Worthy of Confidence.

Chicago, June 19.—In his keynote speech Senator Root, chairman of the Republican national convention, said in part: "The struggle for leadership in the Republican party which has so long engrossed the attention and excited the feelings of its members, is about to be determined by the selection of a candidate. The varying claims of opinion for recognition in the political creed of the party are about to be settled by the adoption of a platform."

"The supreme council of the party in this great national convention, representing every state and territory in due proportion, is about to appeal to the American people for a continuance of the power of government which the party has exercised, with but brief interruptions, for more than half a century, and that appeal is to be based upon the soundness of the principles, approved by the qualities of the candidates selected by the convention."

Question of Party Loyalty.

"In the performance of this duty by the convention and in the acceptance of its conclusions by Republicans, is to be applied the ever recurring test of a party's fitness to govern, its coherence and its formative and controlling power of organization. And these depend upon the willingness of the members of the party to subordinate their varying individual opinions and postpone the matters of difference between them in order that they may act in unison upon the great questions wherein they agree; upon their willingness and capacity to thrust aside the disappointment which some of them must always feel in failing to secure success for the candidates of their preference; upon the loyalty of party members to the party itself, to the great organization whose agency in government they believe to be for the best interests of the nation and for whose continuance in power their love of country constrains them to labor."

"Without these things there can be no party worthy of the name. Without them party association is a rope of sand, party organization is an ineffective form, party responsibility disappears and with it disappears the right to public confidence."

"Without organized parties having these qualities of coherence and loyalty, free popular government becomes a confused and continual conflict between a vast multitude of individual opinion, individual interests, individual attractions and repulsions, from which effective government can emerge only by answering to the universal law of necessary organization and again forming parties."

A Pledge of Sincerity.

"Throughout our party's history in each presidential election we have gone to the American people with the confident and just assertion that the Republican party is not a mere fortuitous collection of individuals, but is a coherent and living force as an organization. It is effective, responsible, worthy of confidence, competent to govern. The traditions of its great struggles for good government and liberty, for the supremacy of law, for the preservation of constitutional government, for national honor, exercise a controlling influence upon its conduct. The lofty purpose of its great originators has been transmitted by spiritual succession from generation to generation of leaders of party, and it is not mere rhetoric when I say, as we have so often said and are about to say again to the American people, that we are entitled to your belief in the sincerity of the principles we possess and the loyalty of our candidates to those principles."

"We claim that we are entitled to a popular vote of confidence at the coming election because we have demonstrated that we are the party of affirmative, constructive policies for the betterment and progress of our country. We claim because we have shown ourselves a party of honest, efficient and economical administrations, in which public moneys are faithfully applied, appointments are made on grounds of merit, efficient service is rigorously exacted, graft is reduced to a minimum, derelictions from official duty are sternly punished and a high standard of official morality is maintained. We claim it because we have maintained and promoted peace with the world and the dignity, honor and justice and interests of the United States among the nations. We claim it because our party stands now, as it has ever stood, for order and liberty and for the maintenance of the constitutional system of government through which a self-controlled democracy for more than a century has established, against all detractors, the competency of the American people to govern themselves in law-abiding prosperity."

"T. R." AND HIS NAT.

The Colonel, in Fighting Trim, Addresses a Sympathetic Crowd.

© 1912, by American Press Association

DOES THIS MEAN A THREAT TO BOLT?

T. R. Says Root Is Beneficiary of Fraud.

Chicago, June 19.—After Senator Dixon came back to confer with him on the result of the first session of the convention, not a word came from Col. Roosevelt. The promised statement was delayed. The crowd, curious to see if the colonel was a good loser or to hear a fighting word from him, pressed around his door until big details of police could with difficulty maintain a lane through the hall.

Word went out that Mr. Roosevelt would talk to his delegates in the Roosevelt national committee room and presently the delegates had

RELIEVE INDIGESTION ALMOST INSTANTLY

Two or three tablets after meals or when suffering stops fermentation, prevents distress, relieves indigestion and almost instantly cures dyspepsia. Crown's Digestit is sold with the distinct understanding that your money will be refunded if you want it—50c. at F. E. Weleott's.

literally light their way to the door. There they were held up by two policemen who passed no one who could not show his credentials as a delegate. Shortly before 11 o'clock Colonel Roosevelt was rushed from his room to the committee's headquarters. His face was hard and set, and for the first time since he arrived he had no wave of the hand for the crowd. Most of those who pressed against the backs of the police were Roosevelt sympathizers and the cheering died away to an awed silence when they caught sight of their leader's face.

Somebody called out, "What are the prospects, Colonel?"

Mr. Roosevelt did not turn, but he recognized the voice and shot back: "You'll find I'm a better warrior than a prophet."

Not Bound by Action.

Then he passed into the committee room, the doors of which were at once shut and guarded. There, after congratulating his followers on the way they stood by him and repeating that theirs is the side that will be victorious, the colonel said: "I regret to say that Mr. Root is the beneficiary and representative only of the majority of the defunct national committee which seated in that convention eighty or ninety delegates who have no claim whatever in law or morals to seats therein. We do not recognize the election of Mr. Root, as temporary chairman, as legal and binding upon any member of the convention. As far as I am concerned I serve notice that we will not treat any action taken by the convention as binding upon any member of the convention or any member of the Republican party if the nominal majority continues the fraudulent delegates to whose votes he is indebted for his selection. In particular I wish to say that I will decline to recognize as of any force whatever any report of the credentials committee dependent upon the votes of any of these fraudulent delegates. I do not recognize any action taken by the convention by the aid of these votes of the fraudulently seated delegates as having any binding effect upon me or any honest member of the Republican party. Full support will be given the honestly elected delegates to this convention to purge the roll of the delegates dishonestly placed there by the action of the national committee, but if they fail to avail themselves of the opportunity thus afforded, then the action of the convention will be binding on no honest man."

John Wanamaker Already Had Lost Three Days.

New York, June 19.—John Wanamaker of Philadelphia arrived last night from Europe aboard the Kaiser Wilhelm II. and left immediately by special train for Chicago, where he expects to make a speech seconding the nomination of President Taft. The big steamer was late in getting in because of a strike that held her at Cherbourg for three days.

Rodman Wanamaker went down the bay to meet his father, who was taken aboard the tug Lancaster, and by her to the Pennsylvania railroad station in Jersey City. There a special train was in readiness and with his secretary Mr. Wanamaker began his journey to the convention city.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., June 19.—Wilber, the eight-year-old son of John W. Eggleston, was accidentally shot by his brother John, six years old. Eggleston had been cleaning and reloading his revolver and when he left the house he put the pistol in a dresser drawer. The boys secured the weapon. Not knowing it was loaded, the younger child pulled the trigger, and the bullet struck his brother in the head, killing him instantly.

Popular Educator Killed Himself.

Bloomington, Ind., June 19.—Cyanide of potassium killed Dr. Harold Whitestone Johnston, head of the Indiana university Latin department, who died on a Meron train while enroute to his home in this city from Indianapolis. Chemical analysis of the contents of his stomach resulted in the finding. That Dr. Johnston deliberately committed suicide was the verdict of Coroner Kentling. Friends of Dr. Johnston admitted that they were not surprised, as it is known that the doctor was in close financial straits.

Indiana Consolidated Schools Are Most Advanced in Union

That Indiana is the most advanced State with regard to its consolidated rural schools of any in the Union will be shown in a report being prepared by Miss Adelaide S. Baylor, head of the manuscript department in the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction Charles A. Greathouse. Miss Baylor's report is to become a part of a larger work on rural schools, which will be issued by the National Education Association, after discussion of the question at the meeting of the organization in Chicago in July.

Miss Baylor is chairman of a sub-committee of the association appointed to investigate the problem of the development of schools, particularly by the consolidation method. Miss Baylor will assert, after a careful investigation of the Hoosier consolidated schools, that the method unquestionably is the next positive step in the rural school problem.

The Indiana educational authority will quote statistics from a survey which has been made in Randolph county, where practically every township has a consolidated school, to show that the expense of the consolidated school is less, while the facilities are more highly organized. Her report, in part, follows:

"Although the matter of consolidating rural schools in the United States has been one of consideration since 1869 when, in Massachusetts, a statute was enacted for the transportation for school purposes of all children at public cost, yet the rapid strides have occurred in the space of a very few years, and to such an extent that in almost every state in the Union some steps have been taken toward consolidation, and in many states the one-room district school will soon be a thing of the past.

"Up to Sept. 1, 1907, in the entire state of Indiana only 1,261 schools had been abandoned, while between Sept. 1, 1907, and Sept. 1, 1908, 350 schools were abandoned, a number equal to more than 25 per cent. of all abandoned in the state before that time. Prior to September, 1909, out of 1,017 townships consolidation had been attempted in less than half, while complete consolidation now prevails in a large number. A little more than three years ago, in the state of Washington, no effort had been made to push consolidation, and now there are 120 consolidated districts scattered throughout thirty-one counties and more than 20,000 children attended school in consolidated districts last year. A very complete and most excellent report on consolidation prepared by the supervisor of rural schools in North Carolina has just been issued from the department of public instruction in that state.

"The advantages promised by consolidations are numerous and, where the transition has been carefully made, they are all in evidence: i. e., larger school plants; sanitary buildings with modern conveniences; laboratory facilities; industrial education, including practical agriculture by means of farms in connection with the centralized plant; better prepared teachers, with better salaries; longer school terms; close supervision; a new community spirit aroused by the new conditions and the utilization of the plant as a social center where parents and teachers come together to discuss matters of common interest.

"Through consolidation the high school is brought to the rural community in the same completeness that characterizes it in the city. The country boy and girl are not compelled to adapt themselves—many times to their detriment—to city life in order to obtain a secondary education.

"The peaceful establishment and progress of the consolidated school have been aided greatly by railroads—both steam and electric—motor cars, and other improved methods of transportation.

"No step in education has been more vital than this one of consolidating schools, since it must mean, in a short time, the entire abolition of what has been and still is the idol of many hearts—the little red school-house. It is a serious matter to displace a time-honored institution and its successor must look well to satisfy the cause for its existence if it would continue.

"Our thoughts and energies must center, then, not upon the annihilation of the old, but upon the building of the new. The consolidated school is not an experiment, but a necessary step in the revolution of school machinery, and that it may fulfill its purpose in the social scheme it must be established with care and consideration.

"Do not take it that the work of this committee will be so much that of attempting to prove by statistical matter or otherwise that consolidation is necessary as to ascertain why it has not always been a pronounced success, what conditions have led to its ever being contrasted unfavorably with the little one-room school, and how these objections have been overcome. Perhaps no factor enters more largely into successful consolidation than that one of transportation.

"In establishing consolidated schools the authorities must consider carefully the condition of the roads, the distances children are to be transported, the length of time they must be in the wagons and other important matters touching upon transportation.

"Public sentiment in the community and district must be educated to co-operate in the establishment of these schools if they fulfill the purposes for which they are created.

"I assume, then, that it will be the business of the committee to investigate the classes of consolidated schools and attempt to determine the best type and the best method for securing this type. It will need to discover whether the typical consolidated school has been most satisfactorily organized by a gradual evolution from the one-room school through the union school, the consolidated rural school and other intermediate types, or by a more direct plan of passing from the one-room to the complete consolidated school, and, furthermore, to determine the conditions under which it is best not to consolidate at all. For in this work we are taking a step forward that will never be retraced and the question, it seems to me, for this committee to emphasize is how we shall create and perfect these consolidated schools that we may build surely for the future."

One of the interesting points in favor of consolidation, as shown by the survey in Randolph county, sets out that a great increase in the number of eighth grade students entering high school is evident after consolidated schools have held sway in a community for a reasonable length of time. In some instances in that county the quota of eighth grade students entering high school before the consolidation of the rural institutions was as low as 21 per cent. in some of the townships. After the consolidated schools began to be established the same township showed 90 to 92 per cent. entering the high schools.

both looking to victory for their candidate.

"Mr. Roosevelt admitted his own lack of strength by declining to place before the convention a candidate for temporary chairman," said Representative McKinley of the Taft forces. "His managers attempted a coalition with the candidate of Senator LaFollette, but the combination was repudiated. They attempted however, to disguise their own weakness by this action and also to accomplish the overthrow of Senator Root by a united opposition. Mr. Root's splendid victory despite these tactics positively assures the nomination of President Taft."

"The full limit of the Roosevelt strength now has been polled, and Mr. Roosevelt still lacks 70 or more votes of the necessary majority. Every effort will be made to debate and delay the consideration of all questions in the hope that opportunity will be given to make further inroads into the column of Taft pledged and instructed delegates. Their methods will prove futile in the future as they have in the past. The defeat which they have sustained today is the beginning of their disastrous end. President Taft's renomination always certain is made positive and inevitable by the developments of the first day of the convention."

"It takes 540 votes to nominate," Senator Dixon, Roosevelt's manager, declared. "Mr. Root received for temporary chairman 558 votes. In this vote was included seven votes from Illinois instructed to the primary for Mr. Roosevelt and these delegates have already announced their intention to carry out their instructions."

Further analyzing the vote Senator Dixon claimed for Roosevelt 22 votes cast yesterday for Senator Root, which are instructed for Roosevelt and expressed confidence that the credentials committee of the convention would throw out some of the contested delegates seated by the national committee.

on this motion there would be a roll call of all delegates individually.

Whatever the outcome, it was planned to appoint committees before adjourning the session and then take a brief recess until 8 or 9 o'clock tonight. The night session, it was expected, would be short. At this adjourned session it was planned simply to receive the reports of the committees on rules and possibly that from one other committee.

As now laid out by the leaders, the convention will be organized to proceed to business on Thursday morning. It is expected by then that the credentials committee and platform committee will report Thursday night. At this time the Roosevelt followers can renew their demands for "purging" of the roll of the convention and have another individual roll call on the question.

Then, if the Roosevelt partisans are beaten, may come the much talked of double convention. In this connection it was frequently rumored that Roosevelt had urged his managers to take steps today to force the issue regarding the demanded revocation of the action of the national committee in the contest cases. Also it was said that the Roosevelt forces would refuse to recognize Senator Root as the legally elected temporary chairman of the convention.

Another fact which became evident as the day wore on was that most of the compromise or third candidate talk was being done by the delegates themselves and not by the leaders. No great weight was attached to the compromise talk by the leaders on either side of the Roosevelt-Taft fight.

The Roosevelt managers made off-repeated assertions that yesterday's developments had placed President Taft out of the race for the nomination. In return the Taft managers said that Roosevelt was absolutely out of the nomination contest.

Governor Hadley, after a mass meeting of Roosevelt delegates, declared that the situation today was just the same as that which confronted the delegates when they first entered the Coliseum yesterday at noon. He insisted that the election of Senator Root as temporary chairman had not altered the situation in a single detail.

The convention in all essential facts is what it was yesterday, only that today the convention is a legally constituted body.

Men of shrewd observation and experience in many national political conventions declared that two points in today's deliberations could be depended upon:

1. That no contests will be decided as Governor Hadley desires, until the matter of contests has gone into and returned from the committee on credentials.

2. That there will be no compromise candidate until the Taft and Roosevelt forces have tested their strength further on roll calls.

BACK FROM CHICAGO SAYS "JIM" SCORED

Verne Norris Glad he Was From Rushville When Delegates Put
the Question:

"WHO IS THAT MAN TALKING?"

Verne Norris, clerk of the circuit court, returned this morning from Chicago, where he attended the Republican national convention. He praised James E. Watson highly for his speech in support of his contention on the floor of the convention yesterday that Governor Herbert Hadley of Missouri Roosevelt floor leader, should not be allowed to put to a vote the question as to whether Roosevelt's list of delegates should be placed on the temporary roll in place of the Taft delegates seated by the national committee. It was a speech that won many admirers for the local statesman.

"I was proud because I was from Rushville yesterday," explained Verne. "When Watson got up to speak, you could have heard a pin fall in any part of the convention hall. Everybody around me—there were delegates from a half dozen States—wanted to know who that was talking. I swelled up and replied that was James E. Watson from Rushville, Ind. Then they began to take notice."

ORATORICAL LIVE WIRE IS COMING

John G. Wooley, Temperance Lecturer, Will Address Union Mass Meeting Monday Night.

TO BE HELD AT THE COLISEUM

This Will be First Speech in Campaign to Restore County Local Option.

John G. Wooley, who is described as the greatest oratorical "live wire" in the temperance cause, will lecture on the subject, "Good Citizenship," at a union meeting of Protestant churches of Rushville at the Coliseum in the city park next Monday evening.

Mr. Wooley is a lecturer for the Anti-Saloon League of Indiana and is coming here under the auspices of the Rushville Ministerial Association. The lecture will be an appeal to the good citizens of the community to stamp out the liquor traffic.

The Anti-Saloon League has laid its wires for an aggressive campaign for county local option in Indiana during the fall months. The lecture here will be among the first which the well known orator will make in the Hoosier domain. His contract with the League for a speech-making tour is from Sunday, June 23, to August first.

This is to be the preliminary part of the vigorous campaign to restore the county option law to the statutes of Indiana. It is planned for Mr. Wooley to speak in half the counties in Indiana during this time.

Mr. Wooley was at one time one of the most prominent prohibitionists in the United States, and in 1900 was the prohibition candidate for President. He has since become identified with the Anti-Saloon League of America and is one of its national lecturers.

While in Indiana his itinerary will be under the direction of E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League. S. E. Nicholson who has been visiting various parts of the State for some time for the purpose of getting information concerning the temperance situation will assist in the direction of the campaign.

Mr. Wooley was once a presidential candidate on a fusion ticket and won more votes than any third candidate has in the history of the United States. He is a very brilliant and intelligent lecturer, and has wonderful oratorical ability.

The funeral services of Mrs. Milton Smiley of Union township, who died in an Indianapolis hospital yesterday morning, will be held at the residence tomorrow at noon. The remains will be brought here so that the deceased's mother, Mrs. Allen Hinchman, may view them. She is too feeble to attend the funeral. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

John Gahimer, Sr., of near Rays Crossing, who was seriously injured Sunday afternoon about four o'clock in a runaway accident while driving home from a visit to his son, John Gahimer, Jr., at whose home he and his wife had been to spend the day, remains in about the same condition.

JAKE CRIED.

Jake Finklestein of Terre Haute, now has the chance of his life to run around with his friend Jim Watson, says Bledgett in the News. For a little while last night Jim got away from Jake, and the story goes that Jake cried like a child. It was Jake who fixed up that Watson meeting in the gold room the other night, paid for the advertising and had the big cards announcing the event printed and hung about the corridors. Mr. Finklestein has hopes that Mr. Watson will be nominated for President, in which event Jake will apply for the job of ambassador to Vienna.
